"Little Ups"

The Peace

short story of empowerment for children to create peace right where they are.

The child first drew the King clad in splendid uniform, then some ranks of soldiers, with rifles on their shoulders. Behind them he drew cannons mounted on enormous carts. Above them all the airplanes as frightening as phantoms. Then he exclaimed "I am PEACE" and from his marker case he took his favorite eraser, and with some vigorous strokes, he wiped out the entire army. And he added "May God be praised"
