TOGETHER

A word from our Rector

“WARN THE CHILDREN OF GOD OF THE TERRIBLE SPEED OF MERCY”

Dear Friends,

I’ve been thinking a great deal lately about how we can help one another make progress in our spiritual lives. After all, shouldn’t this be a key priority in the Church? Our mission is surely more specific and substantial than a generic “dosomething.org.”

Central to growth in faith is transparency to God; an increasing undefendedness before God’s purpose for us in Jesus Christ. Easier said than done, perhaps. In a word, we’re speaking of humility—which is not thinking miserable things about ourselves, but rather an open receptivity to the divine will (which will also, of course, change how we relate to one another).

Many people wish for a closer, more vivid sense of God’s ongoing presence. Not so many are confident that they know how to cultivate such a sense.

To be honest, it isn’t always easy. It often feels safer to stay with the hedged bet, remain uncommitted on the sidelines—and above all, preserve our feeling of control. All traditions have their particular temptations. Among our own, I would name our inclination to see ourselves as elites—who know so much more than so many others! My goodness, we’re not like them (fill in the blank). We’re not the sort who can be taken in.

The problem is that the Way of Life requires being “taken in.” Precisely.

The “know-it-all, heard-it-all” de-bunking attitude of superiority is a serious issue because it functions spiritually, as a distancing mechanism. All too effectively. But no faith tradition can be “used”—or better, enacted—in the lives of its practitioners from a place of sophisticated cynicism.

Making real spiritual progress requires of us the risky setting aside of the strategies of evasion. Only in so doing will we grow into a more perfect sense of the ongoing, living presence of God. Only in so doing will we receive the abundant life that Christ intends to give. (John 10:10)

Lord, help us—and praise be, indeed; the Lord has. Our good God, both courteous and sovereign, has got past our defenses. Except by Grace, we cannot stand “the terrible speed of Mercy.” (Flannery O’Connor, The Violent Bear It Away) And that same Mercy has planted in our hearts a new Desire and Joy. Draw near and follow!

Blessings, dear ones, now and always.

Yours in Christ,

Adam +

THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY SPIRIT Holy Spirit Players Presents: Doubt

By John Patrick Shanley - Directed By Jill Holmes

This Is A Staged Reading - There Is No Admission Charge

Thursday October 2, 2014

3:00 PM

Doubt is set in a Bronx Catholic school. It is 1964 and the winds of change are sweeping through Sister Aloysius' St. Nicholas school. Father Flynn is advocating reform of the school's strict customs, and the first black student has just been accepted. Sr. James tells Sr. Aloysius that Father Flynn may be paying too much personal attention to the new student, Sister Aloysius begins a personal crusade against the priest - despite her lack of evidence.

Doubt was chosen as the best play of the year by over 10 newspapers and magazines. Doubt won the 2005 Pulitzer Prize for drama.

LOVING GOD'S EARTH — SOLAR POWER

“...Give us a reverence for the earth as your own creation, that we may use its resources rightly in the service of others and to your honor and glory....” From Prayers of the People, Form IV

Should we consider the solar alternative to power generation for Church of the Holy Spirit?

The Presiding Bishop, the General Convention of the Episcopal Church, and our own bishops have strongly encouraged ‘going green’ as a moral imperative. We have already availed ourselves of two energy audits which has led to better insulation in our office space and the rectory, and compact fluorescent lighting in many spaces throughout the church, parish hall, and Rectory, and a better monitoring of our heat and AC use. In addition, Jack Sasso and his team have been recycling glass, plastics, metal, and cardboard generated by our many activities. So....we are getting there!

Other churches in the diocese have invested in solar power as have some of our own parishioners, and St. Peter's Lutheran in Harwich provides 104% of its power with solar panels. The reason? Obtaining power from a renewable energy source is good stewardship of God's Creation. The cost? Depending on who provides the units, anywhere from little to nothing on up to $150,000.

If you are interested join us for a meeting in the Fireplace Room, at 5:30 pm, on Tuesday, the 7th of October 2014. Bring a friend, maybe even one who has had experience with solar installation at their home or church.

ACOLYTES

Every Sunday at 10:00 am our priests, their assistants and the CHS choir enter the church to start our main service of the week. But did you ever notice they are led to the altar by our own young people? These are our Acolytes, and now we have an opportunity for your students (grade 3 to 12) to join them. This will be an experience they will remember the rest of their life. It's a chance to serve this parish and God at the altar. Please contact Father Adam at holyspirit@leamsrector@verizon.net or 508-255-0433.

STEWARDSHIP CORNER— OCTOBER 2014

Value

Most of us own a home, car and other items that have monetary value. Other things like our family, friends, health or education are invaluable because of their importance to the quality of our life.

As Christians, we have the opportunity to support a parish such as The Church of the Holy Spirit. What value do you place on the fact that our parish is a place where you can be nurtured, educated and welcomed?

The reality of keeping our parish strong is that we need everyone who considers CHS their Cape Cod parish to provide some financial support. This month, 2015 Stewardship packages will afford us an opportunity to commit a portion of our valuable time, talent and treasures to ensure we can continue to provide a strong and financially sound Christian journey.

What value will you place on this opportunity? Will you have the courage to determine God's will for you to make or increase your pledge?

“The value of a man should be seen in what he gives and not in what he is able to receive.”

—Albert Einstein

2015 Stewardship Packages will be mailed to your home in October.

Please consider your life at The Church of the Holy Spirit and then prayerfully respond using the pledge card provided.

Pledges will be blessed at In-Gathering weekends on Nov. 23rd and Nov. 30th

FOYER GROUPS TO RESHUFFLE IN JANUARY

Our popular Foyer Groups have been going strong in our parish for some years. Foyer groups are small groups of parishioners who have dinner together at each other's houses. They are called "Foyer groups" as we invite one another into our homes. Sometimes the groups gather for lunch instead of dinner---other times they might go out to eat.

The membership of each group changes every six months or so in order to give people the opportunity to continue meeting new parishioners. We currently have four groups in action and reports are they have had a great time with one another over the past several months. However, as we've done over the past several years, it's time to reshuffle the group membership.

If you wish to join a Foyer Group please contact a member of the Pathfinders team listed below. We hope current members of a group will stay in the program—we just want to reconfigure the groups and add folks who wish to be part of the fun. We hope to have new groups in place in January, 2015 to help launch the New Year!

Come join us!

The Pathfinder Team: Fay and Ike Cole, Elizabeth Merritt, Kate Paradise, Sandy Marshall, Marty Williams and Matt Thompson, vestry liaison.

THURSDAYS AT THREE

“Cherishings and Resolutions: Conversations with the Rector”

This series of four will be a set of reflections with Father Adam on key areas of our common faith life. Each session will begin with a short presentation of his and will then open up to broader group conversation. The point will not be to debate, but to share—from our core—as Rector and parish, different ways that we connect in our life together.

October 9. “Lord, to whom can we go? You have the words of eternal life.”

Why I believe the canonical Scriptures are an indispensable gift.

October 16. “I decided to know nothing among you except Jesus Christ, and him crucified.”

Why I believe that the uniqueness of Christ is the reason for the Church’s existence.

October 23. “Mixing up ‘The Big Sort,’ in the Name of God”

Why I do what I do (and don’t do what I don’t do) politically.

October 30. “He came that we might have life, and have it abundantly.”

How personal renewal and growth in discipleship are the energizing center of our life and mission.

YOUTH CHOIR

It has been the custom for a Youth Choir to sing at the Church of the Holy Spirit Christmas Eve service. The opportunity to do so again this year is available. Beginning the first Sunday in October (10/5), and continuing on the first and third Sundays of each month, we will be rehearsing in the church immediately following the 10 am service. Rehearsals will be limited to 30 minutes. Readers in third grade and above may join. Please let Fr. Charles Morris know if you would like to join the Youth Choir. His email is: revcanonm@live.com

THE LABYRINTH

The Labyrinth is an ancient symbol of human vision and emotional knowledge. It is a creative art form. It is a practical tool for inspiration, healing, and fulfillment. It is a metaphorical journey to augment spiritual growth.

Church of the Holy Spirit lays an indoor canvas Chartres-style labyrinth with eleven circuits in the Parish Hall. It is large enough to accommodate a group of people.

Themed group walks on this providential resource are scheduled once a month on Fridays at 10:00 am. Dr. Margaret Rappaport, a Veriditas-certified facilitator, conducts the programs. Music Director, Darlene Hagon, offers musical selections and candles to enhance the quiet, prayerful experience. The practice of meditative walking fosters positive states of mind and body and a heightened sense of spiritual consciousness. You are welcome to join us on October 10, and November 14, and December 12, in 2014. The labyrinth is available for individual walks on these dates from 9:00 am to 10:00 am and from 12:00 pm to 3:00 pm in the Parish Hall.

CAPE COD COUNCIL OF CHURCHES

The Cape Cod Council of Churches sponsors Protestant Chaplains at the Cape Cod Hospital in Hyannis and the Spaulding Rehabilitation Center in Sandwich. They carry out their mission by bringing hope and comfort to those who may be hurting, scared or lonely, usually making about 12-17 visits per day. They can also provide little services, like helping write letters or making phone calls or contacting other volunteer services such as the book cart. The chaplains primarily minister to people who have no local church affiliation. For others, they will offer to contact your church so that you will be on their calling list.

As a CHS member, if you plan to enter a hospital, rehab center or nursing home, let the church office know. If you go in unexpectedly, have someone who knows your wishes call the church office for you. Then you'll be sure to receive regular visits from our dedicated group of clergy and lay volunteers. — Janet & Bob Winter, CCCC Delegates from CHS, Rev. Bill Heuss, CCCC Executive Committee

FREE SHOP

The Free Shop is gladly & gratefully accepting FALL clothing for children & adults. Please no summer or winter clothing because of our limited storage space. Donations can be dropped off any time the Parish Hall is open. If the shop is closed there is a container outside the shop door for your donations. The shop is open every Monday (Noon to 3) & Wednesday (10 to 1).....come visit and shop!

“The identity of Jesus Christ”

Recently I was saddened to be asked what I thought of Zealot, the best-selling book about the life and times of Jesus of Nazareth, by Reza Aslan. I was saddened because the man who was asking me is a lifelong churchman, certainly a believer of sorts, and a fine person. He was enthralled by Zealot and had no clue that there had been any criticisms of it. When I tried to explain that Aslan was not a biblical scholar and did not understand the issues, he protested that Aslan had a PhD (it's in sociology).

Particularly discouraging is the fact that these sorts of books are often recommended by clergy, read in church book clubs, and held up as the latest piece of “new” thinking about Jesus. Actually, these books have been coming out since 1778, with Hermann Samuel Reimarus' initial foray into the “historical Jesus.” From the standpoint of anyone who loves the Bible and believes in the gospel, it is tiresome to have to deal with these books again and again, rehearsing the same arguments again and again.

To give Aslan his due, he is apparently a lively writer and has given a highly readable account of first-century Palestine; such books do not hit the best-seller list and the airport bookstores unless they are accessible and engaging. I don't intend to read the book (I figure I have about ten years of reading left, God willing, so I choose carefully these days!) but a review by New Testament scholar Greg Carey in Christian Century (September 30, 2013) outlines some of the “misleading information” and “outworn misconceptions” in Zealot. (I can't give a link because you have to subscribe to read the review.)

The wife of the man who asked me about Zealot later told me that she also had read it. She made one comment: “It diminishes Jesus.”

That's it exactly. That is the point that needs to be made about Zealot to all who really seek to learn, understand, and follow the man who is called “my Lord and my God” by Christians (as the disciple Thomas does in John 20:28).

Of course anyone is free to write anything they want about Jesus. Christianity does not issue fatwas against, let alone decapitate, people who diminish or dismiss our Master and Redeemer. But it seems to me that it is part of our Christian duty to stand up and explain why these books which purport to tell us about the “real” Jesus are bogus.

Let's say it again: we have no access to the “historical Jesus.” Such reconstructions are guesswork, shaded by the personal biases of the writers. We know nothing whatever of the historical Jesus—though it can safely be assumed that he did indeed live “under Pontius Pilate” and was crucified. The four Gospels are not history. They are testimonies to the Messiah of Israel and Son of God. These are claims that can be made only by faith. The various writers of the New Testament are testifying “by faith, for faith.” That's why reading “the Bible as history” or “the Bible as literature” is doomed to failure (although I will admit that The Great Code, by the distinguished literary critic Northrup Frye, comes close to success...but then Frye was a believer of sorts). The Bible is not a scholar's book; it is the church's book, by which the church lives.

I am at a loss as to how to counter the enthusiasm for Jesus-diminishing books. Luke Timothy Johnson's The Real Jesus (1996) is still an excellent takedown of the historical Jesus movement by a New Testament scholar writing for a popular audience. For those interested in undertaking a more rigorous scholarly approach, there is How on Earth Did Jesus Become a God? (2005) by Larry Hurtado, another New Testament professor, who writes from a more historical perspective, but with theological convictions.

The way to meet the real Jesus has always been the same: listen to someone who knows him. Read the sermons of the great preachers who knew him (I have all of Spurgeon in my laptop). I sent a copy of Theodore Parker Ferris' sermons, What Jesus Did, to the man who asked me about Zealot.

Will Willimon, the celebrated preacher of our day, wrote somewhere that the Jesus-diminishers all have one underlying assumption: Jesus is dead. That's the difference, right there. The "real Jesus" is not a figure of the past to be studied like other historical persons. He is the Saviour who through the Spirit is alive in our present, and he is the reigning Lord of the future of the created order.

THE CHURCH OF THE HOLY SPIRIT
VESTRY HIGHLIGHTS FOR SEPTEMBER 18, 2014

From the Rector:

- The Right Rev. Alan Gates, our new Bishop, was duly consecrated on September 13 in a moving ceremony service in Boston. We pray for many fruitful years ahead for the Diocese under his leadership.
- The Rector is coordinating with the clergy associated with the Parish in support of meeting our various needs for additional clergy support.
- The Rector, assisted by Matt Thompson, will be working with young people and their families in the upcoming development of our Youth Group.

The Minutes (as amended) of the last month's Meeting and the Treasurer's Reports were accepted.

Liaison reports were shorter than usual because a number of ministries had not met during the summer months. Food for Kids was highly successful; many from our own parish served as volunteers, as well as from the broader community.

The Vestry extended profound thanks to Nat Goddard upon his retirement for his strong and active leadership as Chair of our Buildings and Grounds Committee.

The Nominating Committee has been formed and has commenced deliberations for the year 2015. Anyone wishing to put a name forward for consideration is invited to contact Wes Dreher, Chair. [Serving with Wes on the Committee are Amy Corcoran (Spiegel), Gilbert Merritt, Meredith Perkins, and Cynthia Wieboldt.]
